BUSINESS COMING IN VARICK STREET

Widening of the Thoroughfare Has Left Several Block Fronts for Improvement.

NEWLY PAVED WITH GRANITE

Connection with Seventh Avenue Opens Up New Area for Industrial Building.

One of the ancient thoroughfares on Manhattan Island which soon must be reckoned with as a most important commercial artery is Varick Street. Of worthy antecedents and bearing the honored name of a patriot who fought for the liberties of his country and who was Mayor of New York for ten years, Varick Street has, of late, been more interesting to the observer of oddities in the lower Greenwich Village district than it has to the citizen of modern progressive tendencies. The old Varick Street, however, has passed away and those who wish to see some of the remaining vestiges of its simpler and quieter days would do well to walk down its expansive breadth, for indications all point to a remarkable transformation in the near future.

Three things have contributed to this change; first, its widening and connection with Seventh Avenue by the cutting through of the blocks north of Carmine Street to the avenue where it formerly ended at Greenwich Avenue and Eleventh Street; second, the construction of the subway beneath this widened surface, and third, the new granite pavement which has recently been completed.

All the way from its beginning at the junction of West Broadway and Franklin Street to Carmine Street, Varick Street is a splendid 100-foot thoroughfare which is destined to be equally as important to the commercial interests of the lower west side as Lafayette Street has become, since its improvement, to the east side of the city. Within a few years a new avenue has been created in one of the growing commercial sections of the city. Its new granite pavement, which is one of the best jobs of that kind done by the office of Borough President Dowling since the latter assumed office, cost over $220,000, the largest single paving contract authorized in the paving schedule a year ago. The Seventh Avenue extension above Carmine Street, connecting the two thoroughfares, and now giving a broad continuous avenue for heavy traffic from the lower part of the city far to the north, is still in the hands of the pavers. Sections are completed, but early in the Spring when the work is finished west side business will be able to use this new highway without interruption.

To make Varick Street a 100-foot thoroughfare, thirty feet was added on its easterly side, which meant the sacrifice of all the old houses there. The most important demolition which this necessitated was St. John's Chapel, now practically razed and whose large site, between Beach and Laight Streets, has been placed on the market by Trinity Corporation for improvement with business structures. The work of destruction is clearly seen all the way north from Canal Street where there are stretches of several vacant block fronts with potent evidences of the slicing off process in old houses and tenements temporarily repaired. On the west side some of the early homes of seventy-five years ago remain, but in the great commercial changes soon to come it is reasonable to predict that these remnants of the lower Greenwich area will not survive for many years.

In addition to the large tract made available for improvement on the St. John's Chapel site, most of the vacant property in the northerly blocks is also owned by Trinity Corporation and is practically ready for immediate improvement. From Canal to Broome Street are three entire block fronts on the east side virtually vacant of buildings, all of which, with the exception of a few parcels in the block between Watts and Broome Streets, is owned by Trinity. The vacant block between Dominick and Spring Streets, adjoining the Spring Street Church and Varick House, is owned by interests affiliated with the institutional work of the church and is likely to be improved with an apartment house or home for workers in the near future.

From Spring to Houston Street are four more vacant block fronts, all owned by Trinity except a small plot at the northeast corner of Vandam Street. Like the St. John's site, these properties are all in the market for business structures. There are, therefore, seven block fronts on the street from Canal Street north awaiting improvement as soon as building conditions become normal and which will provide several thousand square feet of much needed space in that locality. All of these parcels will undoubtedly be utilized for eight to ten loft structures similar in character to those erected in the vicinity prior to the war and which were all rented on completion, most of them on long term leases.

There is a strong demand for warehouse and industrial business space in the area and negotiations are already pending by several large interests for improvement at the earliest possible date. Within the next two years a building revival is certain to appear which will rival and doubtless eclipse the active industrial building which wiped out so many old Greenwich Village houses in the half dozen years immediately preceding the European war.

The use of granite for the Varick Street pavement shows that the city authorities realized correctly the use to which that wide thoroughfare would be placed. It is natural that there should be objection from business and trucking interests to the segregated traffic law of the Police Commissioner that Seventh Avenue proper, from Eleventh Street north, should be limited to passenger vehicles. This edict may be modified, as, if carried out to the letter, it would create a decided hardship upon commercial vehicular traffic from Varick Street to the business area in the Thirties and Forties, if it were necessary to divert such traffic at the old Seventh Avenue end to a more westerly thoroughfare. Seventh Avenue from Eleventh Street north is now paved with asphalt or in process of such paving. The new asphalt paving over the subway cut is finished to Thirty-first Street, but the city engineers do not call it a very good job. Work on the upper section from Thirty-first Street to Times Square is expected to begin in the Spring. This change in the paving of the continuous thoroughfare was due to the hotel influence in the Pennsylvania Station, of which the most important will be the new Pennsylvania Hotel, nearing completion for opening early in the new year.

The subway has rendered the Varick Street area accessible as never before and its widening will relieve Hudson Street of a large part of the increased traffic due to the enormous development of a hitherto quiet section of the city into a prominent business centre. These elements of accessibility will also influence, although to a somewhat less extent, the building of small apartments and the alteration of houses into modern residential conditions in the upper area of old Greenwich, centring perhaps around Sheridan Square. Several blocks there are restricted to residence and the demand for homes has so far outstripped the supply that the realty agents have scores of applications on file.

Vincent C. Pepe, whose realty office has been instrumental in stimulating many improvements of this character, said yesterday:

"The demand for small apartments in this section, especially in the altered houses, is greater all the time. The supply is only about 40 per cent. of the demand. To meet the need, property owners, builders, and operators ought to get together and plan to alter houses on a great scale. At present the chief drawbacks are material, labor and the mortgage market. Within the last year it has been difficult for any one to make even a small alteration, owing to the price of labor and material. The end of the war will, of course, materially improve the situation and I have no doubt that many improvements will be made before the close of this year."

The last alteration, which has just been completed, was at 18 and 20 Jones Street, two houses owned by the Greenwich Improvement Society. Before alteration they rented for $70 per month each. About three months ago it was decided to improve them at a cost of $7,000, providing steam heat, electricity, and plumbing. The results are $110 per month for each house and all the apartments were rented on long leases.

WHEN NEW R.T. LINES WILL BE OPENED

Brooklyn's System Will Be Greatly Increased During the Present Year.

BRONX WILL ALSO BENEFIT

Rides on City's Lines Per Capita Grew from 353 to 358—The Growth in Population Was 94,827.

The general statement in the annual report of the Public Service Commission of the rapid transit lines to be opened during the current year has been made more valuable by later information giving approximate dates when the lines will be placed in operation. One of them, the subway part of the Pelham Bay Park branch of the Lexington Avenue subway between the station at Third Avenue and 138th Street, was opened to the public on the 7th inst.

The other lines, and the dates when they are expected to be in operating condition, are:

The new Culver elevated line in Brooklyn, about Feb. 20. This is dependent upon the strike of the carpenters, which is expected to be settled in about a week. Another few weeks will see the work completed and the line in public use.

Two new tunnel lines between Manhattan and Brooklyn will be finished late in the Summer or in the early Fall, possibly not later than during the first two weeks in September.

Connection between the Brighton Beach subway from Fulton and St. Felix Streets, Brooklyn, to Malbone Street and Flatbush Avenue, early in the Fall, or not later than early in October.

Eastern Parkway line in Brooklyn extending from the Atlantic Avenue terminus of the old subway, down Flatbush Avenue and out the Eastern Parkway as a subway to Buffalo Avenue, and thence as an elevated line over Livonia Avenue to New Lots Avenue, in the late Fall or early in the Winter.

Nostrand Avenue line in Brooklyn, extending through this avenue to Flatbush Avenue, will be ready for operation, it is hoped, late in the year or, at the worst, early in 1920.

Concerning two of the other lines the report of the commission says:

Extension of the Broadway subway north and east from Times Square. This work will be finished as far as Fifty-ninth Street within a few months, providing the Board of Estimate approves an agreement for the installation of tracks north of Times Square.

The easterly connection of this line through Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth Streets via tunnel to Queens. Arrangements are being made for track installation as far as the Queensboro Bridge Plaza elevated station. The work will possibly be completed before the end of the year.

Concerning the arrangements for the continuation of construction of the Webster Avenue extension of the Interborough's Third Avenue elevated railroad, the commission admits that it has no information upon which it can base an idea of the date of operation of this line. The commission takes care to explain that the progress of the work depends largely upon the operation of the Board of Estimate, which heretofore has not displayed any special disposition to co-operate.

During 1918 the city's railroads collected 1,975,482,316 fares, as against 1,918,812,226, an increase of 56,670,090, which was at the rate of 353 rides per capita in 1917 and 358 rides per capita in 1918. During 1918 the population of the city increased 94,827, according to the figures of the commission.

Efforts to handle the figures in such a way as to show the reduction of congestion per mile as the dual system progresses and is placed in operation will be made as soon as the system is completed. It will then be possible to show what lines have been the most useful in making travel more comfortable and will also show what direction a further extension of the rapid transit system should take. That the service is still far from satisfactory is proved by the fact that the commission received from citizens 1,755 complaints during the year concerning alleged faults in the transportation service.

Attention is called to the fact that development is always slower in those sections where the public utilities are the poorest in point of public accommodation. In 1918 the commission sought to improve the service of all public service corporations in the outlying sections.

To Advance Torrens Titles.

Asserting that the Torrens law, as amended, is making slow progress toward adoption because of the failure of the city to provide adequate machinery for the proper administration of the law, former Register John J. Hopper, Treasurer of the Torrens Title League, has submitted a proposal to the Board of Estimate that it increase the salaries of certain employes designated as official examiners of titles. Mr. Hopper, for the Title League, asks the board to establish a uniform salary of $3,000 for examiners in each county to compensate them for the extra highly technical work imposed upon them in addition to their other duties.

Out-of-Town Investor Pays All Cash for West Harlem Apartment House.

PROPERTY HELD AT $325,000

Left Sale in Old Retail Shopping Zone—An Active Bronx and Suburban Market.

The fact that investors, both large and small, are slowly but surely coming back into the realty market and that trades which have predominated for many months past are being superseded by all-cash transactions were very evident in the sales of the last week.

Apartment houses which are now yielding a higher gross income on the investment than ever before in the history of the city are in good demand, and private dwellings that have long been without tenants are being remodeled and turned into good paying propositions. This is, of course, due to the fact that there has been no constructive work since 1917, but demand is so far ahead of supply that even when construction work does begin it will take several years to fill the gap that has been created.

An excellent example of the investment demand was shown yesterday in the sale of the seven-story apartment house occupying a plot 111 by 150 on the southwest corner of 111th Street and Seventh Avenue. This property, held at $325,000, was sold by Eliza Guggenheimer, widow of the late Randolph Guggenheimer, to an out-of-town investing client of Israel Cohen & Levy. The buyer paid all cash above the mortgage.

Sale in Old Retail Shopping Zone.

In the old retail shopping zone the Levitan Corporation purchased from a client of the Bankers Trust Company, 11 West Twentieth Street, a nine-story fireproof loft building on plot 28 feet 6 inches by 92 feet. The building is leased for about $14,000, and was purchased on a cash basis. Charles E. Moore was the broker.

Two Harlem Deals.

Charles E. Moore has resold for Morris Borsodi to the Levitan Corporation, 531 West 125th Street, a five-story double flat and stores, on a lot 25 by 100. The building is fully rented for about $3,500.

Shaw & Co. sold 338 East 124th Street, a three-story and basement brownstone dwelling, on a lot 20 by 100. The purchaser will occupy.

The Bronx Market.

J. Clarence Davies has sold for Joseph Lapini the two-story dwelling at 2,052 Ryer Avenue, 367 feet north of Burnside Avenue, on lot 16.8 by 98 feet.

The four-story flat at 1,389 Stebbins Avenue, on plot 40 by 100, has been sold by Isidor Kahn for Dr. Julius Bondy to an investor.

The two-family houses at 883 and 887 Faile Street, each on plot 25 by 100, have been sold by Williamson & Bryan for T. M. Macy.

Catharine L. Wynne sold the two houses, 516-518 Westchester Avenue, on a plot 54 by 137.5, which have been held by her for a number of years, to B. Meier & Sons, who will make extensive improvements on the property.

Brooklyn.

Harry M. Lewis sold for the Julius Strauss Realty Corporation the four-story brick apartment, on a lot 26 by 100, 233 Chauncey Street, to a client for investment.

The plot, 60 by 150 feet, with railroad siding, on the north side of Thirty-eighth Street, 320 feet east of Thirteenth Avenue, has been sold by the Realty Trust to the Standard Building Supply Company, which will erect sheds, &c., for the storing of building materials preparatory to the future development of that section.

The Alco Building Company, associated with the Realty Trust, has sold the two dwellings at 2,027 and 2,029 Sixty-sixth Street, in the Mapleton Park section, to John and Hugo Clement.

Meister Builders, Inc., have purchased from the Harry McKee Company the two-story business building at 1,854 Bath Avenue, between Bay Nineteenth and Bay Twentieth Streets, Bath Beach.

Bulkley & Horton Company sold the four-story business property at 37 Grant Square (Bedford Avenue and Bergen Street) for the Chester Drug Company to a client for investment.

Baffa & Dixon sold 146 Wilson Street, three story and basement brick dwelling, on a plot 20 by 100, for the F. Parr estate; also 95 Hewes Street, a three-story single brick flat, on a lot 22 by 100, for Philippine Beyerle to an investor.

B. J. Sforza sold for the Calgah Realty Company to a client for investment the three-story brick apartment house with stores, on lot 20 by 83, on the northeast corner of Tenth Avenue and Fifty-eighth Street.

Long Island.

In the Edgemere section H. Frankfort sold for John S. McBride to M. Silverman his residence on the west side of North Beach, Thirty-sixth Street, north of Mermaid Avenue.

New Jersey.

S. S. Walstrum-Gordon & Forman have sold for William J. Fullerton to Muster & Bauman, druggists, the three-story business and apartment building on West Ridgewood Avenue, Ridgewood. The purchasers have occupied the building as tenants for several years.

The Pruden farm at Florham Park, containing fifteen acres, a dwelling, and outbuildings, has been sold to George Forlow of Madison, through the agency of Joseph V. Keating.

Louis Schlesinger, Inc., has sold for Mrs. S. De Pue the brick residence at 89 Grant Street, corner Spring Street, Newark, to Charles Julian.

The Oak Hills Realty Company, a New Jersey corporation, purchased from the William H. Barkhorn Company the twenty-family apartment house situated at the northeast corner of Prospect Street and Park Avenue, known as 500 Park Avenue, East Orange, on a plot with a frontage of 120 feet on the avenue, and a depth of 205 feet. The consideration paid is understood to be $120,000. J. L. Feibleman & Co. negotiated the sale.

MORTGAGE OUTLOOK.

Savings Banks Lending More Readily, but Building Loans Scarce.

With the close of the war and gradually improved conditions in the realty market the mortgage situation is expected to reach a more favorable turn in the near future. Since August, 1914, the supply of money has been negligible. At times, up to April, 1917, there were considerable funds, although nothing approaching a normal amount. Since the entrance of the United States into the war there has been no market whatsoever except under unusual conditions.

"Savings banks are now becoming more active in the loan market," said Edwin C. Benedict of the Charles F. Noyes Company, yesterday, in discussing the situation. "The loss of deposits due to the Liberty bond flotations has been less than expected. The banks had fortified themselves to withstand greater withdrawals. Another important factor is the deposit of what is sometimes referred to as 'stocking money.' Thousands of people tucked away their savings, thinking cash in hand better than cash in bank. Now that the war has closed they are depositing their money in large amounts. The savings bank situation looks very encouraging. I think that legitimate requirements for conservative mortgage loans will be fully met from now on.

"One of the most encouraging signs of an early resumption is a loan of $700,000 at 5 per cent. made by a large savings bank on the property at 50 Wall Street, recently purchased by the National City Company. Several other fair loans have been made by savings banks at from 5 to 6 per cent., with 5½ per cent. generally asked for first-class loans.

"Life insurance companies, on the other hand, are not likely to be in the market for some time. They were heavy investors in Liberty bonds. In the fourth drive most of the companies made sufficiently large subscriptions to anticipate their investment funds for some time to come. It is not likely, therefore, with another drive promised for next Spring, that the insurance companies will be at all active in the market during 1919, although late in the year the situation may change.

"Building loan money will probably be very scarce. There is now a real demand for additional space of all kinds, office, loft, and residential, and space never was more fully occupied or in greater demand. Downtown merchants, shippers, and business people have been compelled to purchase quarters for their own occupancy. This very favorable renting and selling condition will probably continue, as the erection of new buildings will for a long period be prohibited by two factors—first, inability to finance; second, exceedingly high cost of material and labor."

MANAGERS ELECT OFFICERS.

Charles B. Best Unanimously Elected to Presidency.

At the annual meeting of the New York Building Managers Association, held last week at the Park Avenue Hotel, Charles B. Best, manager of the realty of the Van Buren and Spingler estates, was unanimously elected President. Mr. Best succeeds W. T. Ropes of Horace S. Ely & Co., who served as President for two years, succeeding the charter President, B. E. Martin. The latter, who resigned owing to illness, was made the first life member of the association.

Other officers elected were Clarence T. Coley of the Equitable Building Corporation, Vice President; J. Clydesdale Cushman of Cushman & Wakefield, Secretary, and Lee T. Smith of Pease & Elliman was re-elected Treasurer for the third term.

The Executive Committee chosen to serve three years comprises Everett A. Brett, S. F. Carstein, Guyon L. C. Earle, Charles A. Flynn, Bleecker Leggett, Robert R. Rainey, and W. T. Ropes.

A. C. Doty of Cleveland, Ohio, former President of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers, extended the invitation of President William Marshall Ellis to the local association to attend the forthcoming annual convention of the national association, which will be held in Philadelphia, June 10, 11, and 12.

Reports from twenty-two committees were read, indicating the activities and benefits deriving therefrom to members and the interests they represent. P. Everett Files of the Loton H. Slawson Company was elected to membership, which now numbers 108.

Site for War Arch.

As a site for the memorial arch proposed for those who have made the supreme sacrifice, the Art Committee of the Fifth Avenue Association, in a report to Rodman Wanamaker, Chairman of the Permanent Memorial Arch Committee, has suggested Fifth Avenue at Madison Square, where the Altar of Liberty stands. There is sufficient room here, the committee believes, and that its plans will facilitate and allow traffic to go around as well as through the arch.

The inscription proposed for the arch is:

"Erected to commemorate the home-coming of the victorious Army and Navy of these United States of America, and in memory of those who have made the supreme sacrifice for the Triumph of the Free Peoples of the World and for the Promise of an Enduring Peace."

Westchester County.

At Bronxville the firm of Burke Stone has sold for Henry Lemmermann his property on Ellison Avenue to W. D. Kraft, Jr, and for George Ranzow his property on Milburn Street to Frederick Steinmann, Inc.

Mrs. Marie Louise Cary sold her home in Rochelle Heights to Arthur Tressler Scott of Rye, N. Y. The property was held at $18,000. James D. McCann was the broker.

Leases Thirty-Room Apartment.

Alfred Nathan, President of the Nathan Manufacturing Company, has subleased for a long term of years his apartment at 820 Fifth Avenue, corner of Sixty-third Street, to John N. Willys, President of the Willys-Overland Company. The apartment, which is considered one of the finest in the city in size, decoration and appointments, contains twenty-two rooms and eight baths. Douglas L. Elliman & Co. negotiated the lease.

RENTS RAISED IN FINANCIAL CENTRE
DEMAND FOR SPACE EXCEEDS SUPPLY

Tenants Requiring Additional Space Forced to Buy or Lease Existing Buildings—Great Expansion in Banking Activities Revealed in Big Realty Purchases on and Adjacent to Wall Street.

In the memory of the oldest real estate broker who has had anything to do with leasing and managing downtown property there has never before been a time when rents were so high and space so scarce and so urgently in demand. That the condition of high rents has by no means reached its maximum was indicated last week as the result of a survey of the financial and office building section in the lower part of the city by the discovery that rentals now being made to begin May 1 show in practically every instance a material advance over former prices. The average increase is from 10 to 25 per cent., but cases were cited where the advance has been as high as 50 per cent., this, however, being due to the fact that tenants required to pay such an increase enjoyed long-term leases at the lower rates prevailing prior to the war.

"The enormous expansion of business in the financial, insurance, and shipping sections of the city," said Albert E. Ponter of the Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company last week, "has created an exceptionally large demand for additional space, and tenants are willing to pay any reasonable price provided they can get what they want. The difficulty is that it is not obtainable. Large space is absolutely out of the question. There may be a few single rooms for small offices in some of the desirable buildings, but at the present time I do not know of any vacancies of that character.

"Never in my eighteen years of renting downtown office space have I known of such a condition. The average price now paid in the larger buildings, within the Broadway and Wall Street centre, is from $2.50 to $3 a square foot, which compares with $1.75 to $2.25 for similar space before the war, over four years ago. A certain amount of space was taken by the Government and other war activities. Some of that is being released slowly, but it is virtually negligible as affording any real relief. It is picked up at once, and every large broker doubtless has many applications that cannot be satisfied from tenants who are anxious to increase their space in the buildings they occupy.

"With the demand greater than the supply, rents are bound to go up, and they will remain at the present levels for some time to come because there is no possibility of any new buildings being completed to take care of the increased demand for nearly two years. If the new Cunard Building, on the Broadway and Morris Street site, were ready for occupancy now, every square foot could be filled at once, no matter what its height might be. I believe the Cunard Building will be started this season. It will be a big operation, for the plot contains over 44,000 square feet, nearly equal to that of the Equitable Building site, but under the most favorable methods of construction is cannot be available before May 1, 1921.

"Just as soon as material and labor go down and loan money becomes available, there will will surely be a building revival in the downtown section, but it may be four or five years before the supply catches up to the demand. The new building movement will undoubtedly result in much-needed improvements in the long-unimproved areas immediately east and west of Broadway. The eastern section, especially along William Street in the insurance zone, has already shown much improvement of that sort and additional construction is contemplated as early as possible, but the district west of Broadway needs many modern buildings for concerns which do not absolutely require Broadway offices."

The inability to get necessary space for business expansion in the existing buildings in the lower commercial centre of the city has led to two expedients, one being the tendency of many concerns to buy their own property for immediate or future improvement and the other the necessity of moving to another part of the city. The former movement has been the more noticeable, and it is giving a decided impetus to the real estate selling market, as many deals in which tenants and prospective tenants have been the buyers have been closed both in the Wall Street area and in the old commercial districts along Front and Water Streets immediately north and south of Old Slip. The migratory movement from downtown to uptown localities has not yet been very noticeable, but several large firms whose increasing business demands more room are looking for the proper space in desirable sections uptown, and it is stated that this tendency is liable to increase during the coming year. Vacancies occurring from such changes will be taken without the slightest difficulty, so that the removal of firms long associated with the downtown centre will leave no gaps that cannot be filled at once.

The increase in rents, according to Mr. Ponter, is at best, barely keeping pace with the increase in the cost of operation and maintenance of buildings. The high point in maintenance is believed to have been reached, and landlords are in the pleasant position of being able to realize very reasonable returns to compensate, in some degree, for the proportionately higher cost of maintenance which they have experienced during the war period.

One of the noteworthy examples of the necessity of acquiring new buildings by tenants wishing additional space is seen in the recent completion of the seven-story structure at 156 to 160 Front Street, being the northerly block front between Maiden Lane and Fletcher Street, fronting nearly eighty feet on Front Street. The property was purchased late in 1917 by the Smith Valley Realty Company and the building erected for the New Jersey Zinc Company, which has taken it on a long lease.

The zinc company now occupies nearly all of the fourth floor and part of the second floor in the National City Bank on Wall Street. The expansion of its business was a direct result of the war, and the only way in which extra space could be had was to obtain its own building. It is interesting, as being the largest structure erected during the war period in that locality, and another characteristic feature is the use of zinc material to a large extent, zinc being freely used on the exterior and for interior fittings. Architecturally, the edifice is a pleasing addition to that strictly commercial section, the red brick facade, with white trim, giving a neat and pleasing effect. The zinc company is preparing to move into its new quarters on Jan. 25.

Recent leases of importance which filled the little remaining space included those of the Philippine Bank, which took a large part of the ground floor and basement in the Gaston, Williams & Wigmore Building, at 35 to 39 Broadway; the New York Discount Corporation of New York, a new banking organization, which took the vaults and former space at 52 Wall Street used by the British Bank of North America; the National Surety Company, which took the four-story building at 80 Maiden Lane, where its general offices will be established on May 1, and the leasing on a long term by the Mercantile Bank of the Americas of the nine-story building at 40 to 44 Pine Street, adjoining its present offices at 38 Pine, to be entirely occupied by the bank. Of a more distinctly mercantile character was the leasing by the Orbis Products Trading Company, a new drug and chemical firm, of the six-story building at 215 Pearl Street, between Maiden Lane and John Street.

Further indications of the remarkable expansion of the banking activities in the financial centre, leading to the purchase of valuable properties for needed space to care for the increasing business, are seen in such recent purchases as those of the old Mechanics and Metals National Bank Building at 50 Wall Street by the National City Company, a subsidiary of the National City Bank, the property being assessed at $1,000,000; the former Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance ten-story building at 45 to 49 William Street, with an extension on Pine Street, by the Bank of America, occupying the immediate Wall and William Streets corner, another $1,000,000 investment, giving the bank a greatly enlarged plot of 70 feet on Wall, 150 feet on William, and 38 feet on Pine Street for future improvement; the Mortimer Building purchase by the New York Stock Exchange, and the deals by the Federal Reserve Bank, Brown Brothers & Co., and the National Park Bank, to which should be added the purchase of the Montauk office building in William Street by Elias A. Cohen last week.

Both the Federal Reserve Bank and Brown Brothers & Co. made valuable additions adjoining their present holdings, the latter acquiring 81 and 83 Beaver Street, adjoining its new structure on the corner of Hanover and Beaver Streets, while the Federal Reserve Bank, by acquiring the twelve-story Fahys Building at 29 and 31 Liberty Street, running through to Maiden Lane, controls a plot of over 280 feet on Liberty Street, about 170 feet on Nassau Street, and 319 feet on Maiden Lane. This large site represents an investment of over $3,000,000, which will ultimately be improved with a fine bank building.

The Montauk office building, an eight-story structure, occupies the easterly portion of the large block of which the greater portion is now in the Federal Reserve Bank ownership. It covers the William Street block front between Maiden Lane and Liberty Street, having been built by the late J. Metcalfe Thomas, from whose estate it was purchased. As its construction provided for four additional stories, if required, it is more than likely that the new owner will add to its rental capacity, especially as the demand in the heart of the insurance zone is so much greater than the supply.

The National Park Bank's deal for prospective enlargement of its building is peculiarly interesting, apart from being another object lesson of the rapid expansion of the banking business in this city, in that when the contemplated improvement is made it will remove two cherished landmarks of lower Manhattan—the ancient Brosnan's café at 151 Fulton Street, and the adjoining building at 149 Fulton Street, running through to Ann Street, used as Mouquin's restaurant for many years. With these parcels the bank controls a choice plot of 137.10 feet on Fulton Street, 114.14 feet on Ann Street, and 59.4 feet on Broadway.

Not in many years have so many parcels of choicely located property been purchased by banking and financial interests as has been the case within the last few months.

AUCTION MARKET.

Some Notable Sales of the Year—Optimism for the Future.

In discussing some phases of the real estate market during the year which has just closed, with special reference to the auction offerings, Joseph P. Day called attention to the success of the Manhattan Beach sale of 400 lots in August, all of which were disposed of in one afternoon for a total of nearly $400,000.

"In the same month another successful auction sale was held, which included many hundreds of vacant parcels and a number of houses at Brightwaters, L. I.," said Mr. Day. "It was regarded as very successful, in view of the distance from New York City and the general lack of buying power for suburban property. The total amounted to slightly over $200,000.

"The last large auction sale of the year was held on Dec. 17, the property offered belonging to the estate of Louisa Dash, and consisting of eighty-five lots and one residence, on West 238th and West 242d Streets and Waldo Avenue. While the prices were rather low, it was reported that all the property had been disposed of for a total of $54,750.

"I believe we are at the door of one of the most prosperous real estate and business periods in our history. The fact that market conditions have changed is evidenced in the number of real estate sales since the signing of the armistice. Some of the old-time operators and builders have returned to the market. Recently Franklin Pettit was the purchaser involving the exchange of a tract of vacant lots in the Thomson Hill section of Long Island City on the Queens Boulevard and two large apartment houses. Their value was reported to be over $1,250,000.

"There is a substantial demand for residential and commercial space which causes a steady buying power from tenants and residents and business concerns desirous of securing permanent quarters. Before the market improvement actually comes to pass, ample mortgage funds must come into the real estate market. This will probably not occur until the immediate financing of the war is finished."

Preparing for Queens Building.

With the beginning of the new year indications of active building operations are being shown in Queens Borough. Several plans have been filed with the Building Bureau.

The Julius Strauss Realty Company is preparing to erect twenty-four two-story frame dwellings on Meredith Avenue north of Lachan Street, Arverne, at a cost of $50,000. Frank Peel will erect a two-story brick factory on plot 25 by 100 at the southwest corner of Ely and Payntar Avenues, Long Island City, and Anthony Brzezenski has filed plans for five two-and-a-half-story frame dwellings on Shelton Street east of Campion Avenue, Jamaica, at a cost of $15,000.

East Bronx Sale.

Joseph P. Day sold for the Holding Company 232 East 165th Street, a five-story flat, on a plot 45 by 81, fully leased, and was sold to A. Savadia, represented by Joseph Wolkenberg, for investment.

Clarke Estate Sells $35,000 Dwelling.

The estate of Anna M. Clarke sold to Mable S. Cameron 51 West Fifty-eighth Street, a four-story dwelling on a lot 16.8 by 100, held at $35,000. George J. Humphries negotiated the sale.

FIFTH AVENUE SURPRISE.

Sixth Tall Apartment Project Reflects Changes in Choice Centre.

Undoubtedly the most interesting as well as the most surprising feature of the realty market last week was the announcement that Fifth Avenue was to have another tall apartment house right in the heart of the choicest residential section north of Fifty-ninth Street. To those who had hoped that this thoroughfare would not again be invaded by apartment house construction for some time to come, the fact that the site selected for immediate improvement was in the Astor mansion block and that the high building will overtop the home of the late Colonel John Jacob Astor, now owned by Vincent Astor, came with the suddenness of a shock. It was only a few years ago that the conservative minded residents and owners on the avenue were somewhat dismayed when a bold owner put up a twelve-story house adjoining the marble residence of Henry Phipps at the north corner of Eighty-seventh Street. Apartment construction on upper Fifth Avenue would appear to be as ruthless as that of commercial buildings in former home centres prior to the enactment of the zoning law.

Ten years ago the announcement of a big apartment next to the Astor mansion, which occupies more than half a block front at the north Sixty-fifth Street corner, woud have created consternation among the tenants in the immediate locality if not throughout the city. When a tall apartment house was first broached several years ago for the north corner of Seventy-first Street, sentiment was so strong in the vicinity that owners acquired additional land to block the plan and it did not go up. That was but a temporary success, however, in so far as keeping the modern type of multi-family homes from the avenue and the first big project to go through was the twelve-story house on the north corner of Eighty-first Street. Despite its high rentals it was a success and it naturally led to the acquirement of other property on the avenue which the old residents no longer wanted and for which there was apparently no market for use as private dwellings.

There are now five twelve-story modern apartments on the avenue, being, in addition to those at Eighty-first Street and adjoining the Phipps home, on Seventy-fourth, Seventy-second, and Sixty-third Street corners, the latter being the former Progress Club site, within three blocks of the latest projection.

It speaks well for the management of this newest Fifth Avenue apartment that, notwithstanding the high cost of materials and the difficulty of financing large operations, it has been possible to complete all of these onerous details so that construction will start in a short time and the new house will be ready for tenants during the Summer of 1919. The Grant B. Schley estate, as the owner of the property, is the leader in the operation, the plot to be improved including the fine Schley residence fronting 50 feet on the avenue at the south corner of Sixty-sixth Street, while the frontage on the street is 100 feet, taking in three additional private houses. William Henry Barnum & Co. will erect the building, and the firm has provided the building loan. J. E. R. Carpenter and Cross & Cross will be associate architects. The building will cost about $1,000,000. It will be attractively designed, the present intention being to provide a single suite of about twenty rooms for each floor.

Building Materials for Norway

What is thought to be the first shipment of American house-building materials ever sent direct to Norway has recently gone forward, and a trade that was started with the help of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce now promises to develop into one of important dimensions.

The bureau is just in receipt of the following self-explanatory letter from the New York representative of the company chiefly concerned in the transaction:

"A couple of weeks ago I went to Louisiana and purchased about 120,000 feet of yellow pine in the different dimensions suitable for wooden buildings, which was shipped from New Orleans within a few days direct to Norway. We have since placed an order about half that size, and we now expect that other orders will follow right along.

"We also shipped from New York some 17,000 pounds of American tile and ceramic flooring and some deadening quilt for walls and floors, and have placed orders for high-class and, in part, carved interiors in quartered oak, mahogany, and antiquated, for a certain brand of special-type panels, for ornamental compo ceilings, for plumbing fixtures, water filters, metal roofing, and a number of other building materials for the houses to be erected by a company in Christiania as samples of American building materials and appliances. The company is being organized to carry a stock of such materials at Christiania, Bergen, and Trondhjem."

Operator Resells at Profit.

Resale in a cash transaction for a substantial profit of the six-story elevator apartment houses at 728 to 736 West 181st Street was consummated yesterday by the Nason Realty Company (Max N. Natanson, President), to Joseph Shenk, who has more than 100 houses in his charge, either as owner or lessee.

The properties have accommodations for 120 families, all suites being occupied at rentals approximating $62,000. They were held for $400,000 and occupy a plot 200 by 150 by irregular. The Nason Company bought the houses about three weeks ago from the Ambrose Realty Company.

STUDY SUBWAY SYSTEM.

Thirty-fourth Street Board Discovers Much Dissatisfaction.

The Board of Directors of the Thirty-fourth Street Board of Trade has authorized its Transportation Committee to employ a traffice expert to study the various suggestions made to the committee as a result of the questionnaire upon the transportation situation sent to business men and property owners throughout the district.

"While the Thirty-fourth Street Board of Trade was organized to look after all of the varied interests of the section," said Vivian Green, the President, yesterday, "it became apparent that the foremost question was the subway situation. The criticism of the present subway system has been vigorous and general, even though it may not be deserved.

"Many replies have been received and they are unanimous in condemning the existing system. It would appear that New York has grown accustomed to the old route across Forty-second Street and wants that service restored. A proportion of our replies also requests a service from upper Lexington Avenue, across Forty-second Street and down Seventh Avenue. Whether this is feasible or not from an operating standpoint, the 'man in the street' believes a joint interchange of trains on each arm of the 'H' system is what he wants.

"The problems presented are highly technical and involved and we realize that it is a question for experts. The man we expect to engage is a recognized leader in his field. When his report is made public we believe it will be found of great value to all New York, as he will represent in no sense any special interests."

KEW GARDENS BUILDING.

Plans Made for Early Construction of Artistic Suburban Homes.

Announcement was made last week by the Kew Gardens Corporation that it is ready to build homes for those who wish to move from the city and live in suburban communities. The labor situation, cost of material, purchasing power of money and the strength of the demand for suburban living were factors which the directors considered before making their decision. The Kew Gardens Corporation is not only to be land seller but home builder as well.

The Kew Gardens Construction Company has been incorporated at Albany. As an auxiliary of the Kew Gardens Corporation, the land owning company, it will do the building at Kew Gardens and Richmond Hill.

Renwick, Aspinwall & Tucker will be the architects of the projected homes and they will range in cost from $10,000 to $50,000.

$250,000 Purchase in West Bronx.

Morris Polsky sold to Frederick Brown, operator, 1,764 to 1,776 Weeks Avenue, four five-story apartments, on a plot 200 by 95. The property shows a gross rental of $16,000 and was held at $250,000. Leitner, Brener & Starr negotiated the sale.

Manhattan's Crooked Streets.

The irregularity of the streets in lower Manhattan is due to the fact that the nucleus of the present New York City grew for thirty years before streets were laid out. Settlers in those days, as is still done in country districts, built their homes wherever they liked.

A BUILDING ACHIEVEMENT.

Two Mammoth Hotels Successfully Built Under War Conditions.

While New York is the centre of financial and commercial exchange for half the globe, it is in a great measure the focal point to which all routes of travel converge, and whence they radiate to all important points of destination in both hemispheres.

This tremendous tide of travel which flows uninterruptedly year in and year out, during all seasons of the year, has created a demand for hotel accommodations not equaled in any city in the world.

The millions of visitors who came and enjoy the hospitality of the city are deeply impressed with the progressive modernism, magnificence, and luxuriousness of its hotels.

Some one hotel has always been in vogue, and society will always have its favorite rendezvous. In the early seventies, the hotel belt comprised the territory between Fourteenth Street on the south and the vicinity of Madison Square on the north, where were located such landmarks as the Brunswick, Fifth Avenue, Albemarle, and the Hoffman House. All had memories of the city's most active social and business activities.

With the northerly trend of business and residential districts, the newer hotels were erected on sites further uptown, in the district bounded by Thirty-fourth street on the south and Fifty-ninth Street on the north, and from Broadway to Lexington Avenue.

Historically, there can be much said about the early days of hotel keeping in New York. In former days all they attempted was relative comfort. Plain, substantial food for man and beast was the task they set themselves. Hotels were for travelers, and the tourist and sightseeing guest was made as comfortable as possible.

Times, nevertheless, change. Just when the new hotel idea attracted immense capital investment cannot be recalled, but the recent merger of large hotel interests into single ownerships would indicate that the better class of hotels are more than ordinary income producers.

The era of magnificence and display that New York is now witnessing is nowhere more pronounced than in the two mighty hotels just completed by the George A. Fuller Company, builders, Paul Starrett, President. These two additions to the long list of New York hotels are the New Commodore Hotel and the Pennsylvania Hotel. The former adjoins the Grand Central Terminal on the east, and occupies the northwest corner of Lexington Avenue and Forty-second Street, and the latter occupies the block front in Seventh Avenue from Thirty-second to Thirty-third Street, directly opposite the Pennsylvania Station.

Built simultaneously under war conditions, when material and labor were at a premium, the successful completion of these mammoth buildings and their opening within a few days of each other will stand out as an epoch-making achievement in the annals of building construction.

The aim of the builders was to produce two of the largest hotels in the world, and in so doing translate into concrete expression the ideals and enthusiasm of the two leading hotel managers of the country—John McE. Bowman and E. M. Statler. Each hotel possesses individuality and characteristics quite distinct and apart from the other. The Commodore was designed by Warren & Wetmore, architects, and the Pennsylvania by McKim, Mead & White, architects.

The New Commodore, which will open its doors to the public on Tuesday, undoubtedly adds strength and decorum to the group of high-class hotels in the vicinity of the Grand Central Terminal, comprising the Belmont, Murray Hill, Manhattan, and the Biltmore, all under the management of John McE. Bowman. Rising twenty-eight stories above the street grade, with five levels below the street, a part of the structure is erected over the new subway extension which curves into Lexington Avenue from Park Avenue.

The Hotel Pennsylvania, situated opposite to the Pennsylvania Station, in the easterly side of Seventh Avenue, between Thirty-second and Thirty-third Streets, opened yesterday, has the distinction of being the largest hotel in the world, having 2,200 rooms. It has twenty-two floors from the street level to the roof, inclusive, and three levels in the penthouse.

Some idea may be had of the magnitude of the undertaking to build two hotels at the same time during adverse conditions when it is considered that the following list of materials had to be assembled by the Fuller Construction Company: 12,600,000 bricks, 475,000 cubic feet of back-up tile, 293,000 barrels of cement, 23,800 tons of steel, 3,000,000 T. C. blocks, 17,916 door openings, 6,191 window openings, 24,300 tons of plaster, 5,366 stair treads, 35,600 linear feet corridors all floors, 23 freight and service elevators, 20 passenger elevators, 13,495 plumbing fixtures, 1,200,000 feet of conduit, 3,250,000 feet of wire, 745,000 feet of steam piping, 900,000 feet of plumbing piping, 50,000 feet of refrigerating piping.

Bills Affecting Realty.

Landlords Prohibited from Discriminating Against Tenants with Children. (Assem. Int. No. 47, Pr. 47.) Mr. Goldberg.

An act to amend the Penal Law by adding new Section 495, effective Sept. 1, 1919, making it a misdemeanor in any city of the first class to refuse to rent an apartment house to any person or family solely on the ground that such person or family has a child or children under 14 years of age; also prohibits future leases containing any provision that lease is to terminate on the birth of a child; any such provision is declared to be against public policy and absolutely void.

Rear Extensions Permitted on Apartment Houses. (Assem. Int. No. 31, Pr. 32.) Mr. Leininger.

An act to amend subdivision 2, Section 57, tenement house law, by providing that when a tenement house has an outer court not exceeding 36 feet in length and not less than 8 feet in width, there may be an extension on the rear of such court of not more than 20 feet, provided that the width of the outer court between the inner walls of such extension, measured from wall to wall, shall be not less than 11 feet in any part of such extension, and provided also that there shall be an open yard from the rear of such building as extended to the rear of the lot line of a distance of at least 15 feet.

START CAMPAIGN FOR IMPROVEMENTS

The Forty-Second Street Association Announces Its 1919 Program.

CONGESTION OF SUBWAY

To Intensify Times Square and Forty-Second Street as the Hub of Greater New York.

The Forty-second Street Association at its last meeting launched a campaign to secure various improvements in and about Times Square and intensify the importance of the section as the "heart of Greater New York."

Walter J. Salmon, President of the association, presided at the meeting, and after a general discussion of the conditions prevailing at present he said: "Now is the time for all owners of property and the business men on and in the vicinity of Forty-second Street to get together and demand relief from some of the intolerable conditions we are confronted with.

"While the officials of the city and the transit companies wrangle over personalities, the public, as usual, is made to suffer. For years we have remained silent while the residents of Brooklyn, Staten Island, Harlem and the Bronx have dictated what in their judgment was best for Forty-second Street.

"Most of us who are directly interested financially and otherwise in the street have had nothing to say. In the meantime the subway conditions have become intolerable; congestion has increased until it seems that the proverbial sardine box is a roomy palace compared to the stations and cars of our own little transit tube.

"In getting together as we have now done and decided to take the initiative, I suggest that the Association concentrate upon obtaining such improvements for our district as the following:

"Adequate subway service to and from the two present subway systems; to improve street traffic conditions, notably at Fifth Avenue, Pershing and Times Squares; enlist proper recognition and support on the part of our public officials; encourage hotel and amusement enterprises development; increase sales at retail stores by adding to the prestige of the street as a shopping centre; improve building conditions so that new building enterprises may be encouraged; obtain tenants; and to provide a system of transfers to and from the Forty-second Street crosstown cars that will be equitable to the transit companies and to the public.

"In fact, we should devote our energies and abilities to a concerted movement to intensify this thoroughfare as the hub of the Greater City. Those projects are all the reasonable and possible kind.

"Every man really worth while today owes a reasonable amount of his time and thought to the community in which he lives or conducts his business, and every man in this territory having business, property, or professional interests therein, should therefore become a member of the Forty-second Street Association and share in the work of securing needed improvements, new industries, and a bigger and busier community.

"Projects of more or less magnitude depend for their accomplishment upon the organized and energized efforts of our citizens. The individual alone can accomplish little. Only through financial and numerical strength can effective and constructive progress be made.

"A body of one thousand civic workers united into an association has almost no limit to what it can do for the betterment of the business and civic interests of this community, and, considering the delays and blunders recently made by officials and others in the laying out of the subway and other so-called improvements in our midst, it is time for us to unite and step in and have a voice in the matters that directly affect us."

Edward W. Forrest, formerly Secretary of the Federated Civic Associations of New York, was appointed Secretary of the Forty-second Street Association. John McE. Bowman of the Commodore Hotel was appointed Chairman of the Advisory Board.

Realty's Victory Dinner.

The twenty-second annual banquet of the Real Estate Board of New York will be held on Feb. 15 at the New Hotel Commodore, Lexington Avenue and Forty-second Street.

In calling attention to the forthcoming banquet, Elisha Sniffin, Chairman of the Dinner Committee, says it will be the Real Estate Board's celebration of the greatest victory in the world's history. He believes that the capacity of the ballroom of the Commodore, 1,500, will be subscribed for at an early date and urges members to make their reservations at the earliest possible moment. Tables will accommodate ten persons. Mr. Sniffin says the speakers this year will be men of national prominence.

The Real Estate Board did not hold a banquet last year, because of the war, but as a substitute arranged a benefit performance for the army and navy relief societies at the Hippodrome, which was one of the most successful of the season. Upward of $16,000 was turned over to these societies as a result of the benefit.

New York's Waterfront.

New York has 578 miles of waterfront, of which 450 miles are available for pier construction. The harbor is far superior to that of London or of Liverpool. The Thames is a brook beside the Hudson, and requires constant dredging. Liverpool has a tide of 30 feet range, with enormous watergate construction required to overcome it, while New York Harbor is practically tide free.

In so far as docking space is concerned, New York can expand her harbor to a capacity equaling the combined dockage space of any five of the main ports of Europe.

On the Manhattan shore of North River, between Thirty-sixth and Thirty-ninth Streets, the city has begun the construction of a series of gigantic piers for modern leviathans. These piers are 1,000 feet long, with slips 200 feet wide, having a depth of 44 feet at mean low water.
